do get up some stupendous jokes sometimes. The sense of humor must be as exquisite in that body as in the one under the hat of the inimitable and irresistible spinner of anecdotes who presides over the destiny of nations. The latest brochure was introduced by Mr. Howard, proposing the repeal of so much of the confiscation act as forbids the forfeiture of real estate beyond the natural life of the offender. It was rather a neat thing, viewed in the light clause in the Constitution forbidding any natural conclusion was that it was put the entire act. This, however, is not enough. Mr. Howard, who cannot, we suppese, find be stricken out. If we could place any reliance on the executive officers, we would smile at the idea of repealing this portion of navigation is so fluctuating. the act as something superfluous; but as we are compelled to see that Mr. Howard really means something in earnest, and not a little job of his own, we can but feel the deepest and most heart-felt sympathy for him. He deserves advice and assistance. As it is, he is laboring away zealously, ferociously, but still, we humbly submit, not with sufficient depth. The evil which he wishes to cut out lies is in a well-known clause in the Constitution itself. We, therefore, suggest to Mr. Howard that he proceed at once to introduce a resolution in Congress repealing the Constitution. True, he may claim that it has already been accomplished by the tacit consent of all his party, but we think, to be on the safe side and effectually carry out his design, such a resoution would be in order. While upon this subject we would call the attention of Mr. Howard to another important fact. The English Parliament and the French Chamber of Deputies have each of them imposed a heavy tax on some American manufactures. Would it not be an excellent idea, and we most earnestly suggest it to Mr. Howard, for our Congress to repeal the said duties? We have quite as much right to do it as to repeal our Constitution by Congressional en-

There is another point worthy of Mr. Howned that it is the most simple, eincient and durane machines have chine made. Tens of thousands of these machines have ard's attention, and we hope he will give all already been sold where they have been introduced. We are prepared to effect sales on the most favorable eration. It is known that in the South as Families can use them one month, and if at the end of well as the North it is fully believed that all that time, they are not entirely satisfied they are worth white men are created free and equal. The only difficulty is with the pegro. Now, we put to Mr. Howard if it would not be an excellent way to adjust these difficulties by declaring that henceforth, by law, all negroes shall be white? This will strike at the root of the matter. The blacks being once made all white in this complete manner, there will remain no real cause of quarrel. The importance of improving the mail tucky bordering on the Ohio river, from Loubefore the public, and should arrest the atten- ances. tion of these who have control of the postal well as the people who live in the district, have a vital interest, and which has been too long overlooked. The people, themselves, are largely responsible for the existing they have not been awake to their interests, and have not, through the proper channels, made such representations of their needs and ducs as would be likely to bring about a change. It is true also that, while the district referred to has been increasing its population and rapidly developing its wealth and resources, the people have witnessed, with a strange and unaccountable apathy, a constant lessening of their facilities of communication with the great world around them. Tri-weekly mails have taken the place of daily mails in some cases, and in others, where there was a triweekly mail, there is now no mail at all, and the result is what might have been expected -great inconvenience and loud complaints.

Albany to Evansville there was a tri-weekly land mail, and from Louisville to Henderson a daily land mail. The daily river mail is now changed to a tri-weekly mail, which does not, however, supply all the river postoffices. The Kentucky daily mail has been changed of Indiana formerly were able to avail them- and a half years. During that time he has selves of the Kentucky daily land mail, the traveled the wide world over. routes across the river for that purpose have been discontinued, and the privilege no longer exists. During a portion of the summer months the low water in the Ohio river is productive of great irregularities, and in winter ice, as is now the case, deprives the people of all the benefits of the mails. With the present regulations, the offices on the Indiana side of the river, under the most favorable circumstances, can receive but four mails per week, but failures from various csuses which cannot be forseen or guarded against will reduce their number to an average of three mails per week. The population of the district to which we have referred numbers nearly a quarter of a million; its manufacturing, mining, agricultural and mercantile interests have assumed a magnitude which should not be overlooked, and which | dend of four per cent. on a capital stock for demand recognition by the Postoffice Department. They demand largely increased postal facilities to place them on a par with districts where these interests show less vitality, and where there is vastly less capital and energy employed in their development. Louisville is the legitimate market for the vast quantities of tobacco, grain, fruit and other products of these lower counties, and citizens have a right to exhibit concern with their importance. There certainly should be no objection or hesitancy in extending to the people of this district the advantages and privileges which they enjoyed ten years ago. It is a new feature in administering any of the departments of the Government, and especially the Postoffice Department, to decrease its favors as a community advances in population and wealth; but such has really been the case in the counties to which we have alluded. We feel confident, however, that if the people will, through their representatives in Congress, call the attention of the Department to the subject, their interests will at once be respected and their wants attended to.

IMPROVEMENT OF THE OHIO. - We sometimes hear objections to any attempts to improve the navigation of the Ohio, a few of which may be noticed. Some object on the ground that the tolls will raise the freights. The authorities in Congress assembled when the opposite must be the effect. Boats now have to go with less than half a load on account of low water, when, if the navigation were improved, they could always carry full loads; and, after paying tolls, they could make more money at a less rate of freight. For a great portion of the year freights are so high on the Ohio that the main staples of the country cannot bear it, and often they must wait for months for the of the Constitution, when this proviso was river to rise, and even then be disappointpassed. The act gave no additional force to the ed for the season. Bagging and rope, intend ed to be shipped from Maysville, made during such complete confiscation, and the the summer season, have often been so much delayed in shipment from low water as not to in there just to show the absurdity of be in time for the cotton crop of that year, and had to go over to the next, to the great inconvenience and loss of the owners, and the any other little twig or limb to lop, must have delays on the other great staples has often ochis little job at this; and so he proposes that casioned heavy loss. A good uniform stage the proposed limitation to the forfeitures shall of navigation would secure uniformity of freights as on the New York canals, and this uniformity can never be secured while the

Then some object that the boating interest would not be so good. There is to some men three trips. They imagine if the river were improved freights would be regular, and rates so fair that they would not make money fast enough. But those who have had good boats laid up for months waiting for water are apt deeper than any Congressional enactment. It to feel differently. They prefer to have their boats regularly in business. It is true that the business of the river would be vastly in creased, and more boats would be built, but for some time the boats would not be built fast enough to keep pace with the increase of

There is no doubt that these Pennsylvania routes will be vastly improved with the river improvement, and, if need be, the Pennsylvania canal will be enlarged to a good ship-canal, and for which there is far greater need, at least for the whole Southwest, than the enlargement of the New York canal. It may be objected that these improvements | warded them to Canada. would make Philadelphia and Pittsburg places of far greater importance than they deserve to be. We leave this objection to be answered

And, moreover, we do not suppose that Wilson or anybody else believes that there is any scent of treason in these resolutions.

The movement is puerile and unworthy of a body of such owl-like gravity as the Senate ought to be. We don't know but the Senate is better employed on such a subject than on any serious matter. They will do less harm.

Tobacco.

A very excellent essay on the culture of tobacco has been issued as a circular by Messrs, Phelps, Caldwell & Co., of the Louisville Tobacco Warehouse. We understand that it was prepared by Mr. Caldwell, of that firm, whose large and extensive observations have enabled him to do the subject justice. We extract from the circular all that relates to tobacco culture:

In answer to numerous inquiries from those who are beginners in the culture of tobacco we submit the following brief suggestions, embracing the general principles of the management of this now important crop, leaving many details to be suggested by the practical good sense of the cultivator: The Seed.—Among the various names we give the preference to the Biue Pryor. It does not produce as long leafy staple as many other varieties, but all things being equal, it yields a finer fiber and richer texture than nost varieties, and is alike adapted to manu facturing and shipping.

THE PLANT BED -In open weather in January, February or March select a rich spot of virgin soil; clear the surface of all leaves, burn thoroughly, so as to destroy all wild seeds then dig three or four inches deep, thoroughly pulverizing the soil, incorporating the ashes with the burnt earth; rake smooth, removing all litter, and sow at the rate of one table-spoonful of seed to one hundred square yards of surface. Mix the seed in dry leached ashes, say one quart of ashes to the spoonful of seed. It is best to sow the bed both ways

now rake again, then tramp with the feet and cover with green brush, without leaves.

Remove the brush after the frost is out of the ground and the plants begin to cover the bed.
THE PREPARATION OF THE SOIL.—This crop requires the best soil that you have. "New ground" or virgin soil yields the fiacst manu facturing leaf; but old well-manured land will give a larger yield and a richer, heavier article, which will be sought by the exporters. The soil should be thoroughly cultivated before the crop is planted. The ground having been well plowed and cross-plowed and har rowed, you will lay it off three and a half feet each way, and raise a small hill in the check. You are now ready for PLANTING THE CRCP—This you will do the first "season," after your plants are large enough—when the first leaves are three or four inches long, just as you plant cabbages, replanting, of course, until you get a stand. You will find many impediments in your way in getting a stand.

FIELD CULTIVATION will bring into requisition the plow and hoe. The ground should be stirred at least once a week, and not a weed or sprig of grass be permitted to show itself. The last step in this process, or the "laying by of the crop," consists in drawing up the earth carefully around the plant with the hoe. At this stage your first planting will begin to "come into top," or has attained sufficient size to be topped. sufficient size to be topped.

Topping is simply arresting the growth of the plant by taking out the bud, and is best done when the terminal bud alone has to be removed; if it goes beyond this point much of the strength of the plant has been expended in the formation of leaves that are lost. "Prime" off the under leaves up to the first ood leaf, which is usually a hand's breadth from the top of the hill, then top, leaving ten leaves at first topping, and reduce as the season advances. Succoring and Worming.—So soon as the growth of the plant is arrested by topping, it will throw out "succors" just above the foot stalk of the leaves and around the main stalk. These, with the horn worm, will now demand your vigilant attention. Never them get a start on you. Occe a week will ordinarily suffice to keep them under. In the midst of this struggle with these two formidable enemies you will find the first planting thickening and changing its color, loosing some of its clear deep green. The leaf, if folded between the thumb and finger, will break readily. These are some of the will break readily. These are some of the evidences that it is ripe and ready for the The cutting process is very simple. Split ten plants together with the hands to the sun-The best cultivators do not scaffold in the field, but "hang" on sticks, one end in the ground, and remove directly to the barn. The curing of the crop is one of the most important steps in its whole treatment, and most difficult to describe in the space of a circular. If house room is plenty it may be cured with but little firing, tudeed without firing, but if house room is an object, heavy firing is necessary; it is always necessary when a dark rich color is desired. Do not begin with large fires. Keep constant, gentle fires until you attain the desired color, then press your fires day and night until the entire lead is thoroughly cured. It now hangs until you are ready for the next step, and until it comes in "case" for Stripping. — Whenever the leaf is soft enough not to break or crumble in handling, "strike down" and bulk; removing the plants from the sticks, you lay it in bulk, the tails slightly lapping over to preserve the "order." Now, put your best judge of the article to sorting; he will take off all ground leaves, lugs or cullings, and the strippers will separate the different grades, putting the bright in one lot, separating the long from the short of the same class, the dark heavy shirping leaf to itself, the fine dark manufacturing to itself, &c. Tie in hands of from five to seven leaves, wrap smoothly with a slip or short leaf, make the tie not ever one inch and a half long. Hang on sticks and "hoist" in barn. When it has thoroughly dried and again comes in case or "prizing order," that is when the leaf is soft and the main stem is sufficiently dry to break readily for one-third its length, from the larger end, bulk down as follows: Raise a platform on your barn floor, cover with boards, over them a layer of dry straw and lay one or two hands at a time, heads out, a course the length de-sired for the bulk; then a similar course so as to have the tails about meet; then a third and repeat this process until the bulk in com-pleted. Cover with boards and straw and put all the weights on practicable. You are

ENTERED INTO LIFE DECEMBER 17, LOUISA W. JACK. The frozen lily, on a broken stem-By angels lifted to Christ's diadem-Receives fresh life and sheds new perfume down On earth-bound friends, from the celestial crown;

Her fragrant memory filleth the stilled heart

Till chastened love doth heavenly peace impart. And we can lay our aching heads beside The pure, calm brow, nor feel that Lou has died. Not dead! not dead! Oh, never name that word Beside our Lily! Sounds which here are heard Must be attuned to angels-hark! I hear The chant of spirits floating o'er her bier, Oh, still that wailing! For methought I heard A well-known voice that trilleth like a bird Which sings on wintry day of summer hours: We, if we will, can make that music ours; We'll open our stilled hearts to take it in, Until it driveth out both grief and sin: Sunshine of Heaven on our heads will beam And death's dim terrors be a passing dream.

Our fair and frozen Lily we must lay Beneath the sod on this quiescent day. Tis well! She liveth now, nor more can die, But 'round our brightened homes may ever fly, Casting the glimmer of a rainbow wing Upon the hearts that list when angels sing.

But never say again that one is dead Whose ransomed spirit soars where angels tread. There is one less to love us here, we know; And sad it is in these dark days of woe To give up one who clings to our pure love;

But there's one more to love us there above.

The Divers at Port Royal. A correspondent of the Baltimore American writing from off Morris Island, says: During a recent visit to Port Royal I witnessed with considerable interest the operations of the divers employed to clean the bottions of the monitors, and perform other operations under the water. Their principal diver—appropriately named Waters—is so used to this work that he has become almost amphibious, remaining for five or six hours at a time under water. A man of herculean strength and proportions, when clad in his submarine armor he becomes monstrous in size and appearance. A more singular sight than to see him roll or tumble into the water and disappear from sight or propring and and disappear from sight, or popping up blowing, as the air escapes from his helmet, like a young whale, can scarcely be isnagined. Waters has his own ideas of a joke, and when he has a curious audience will wave his

His buoyancy is immediately increased and he popular like. is immediately increased, and he pops up like a cork and floats at will upon the surface. The work of scraping the bottoms of the menitors is very arduous. The diver sits upon a spar, lashed athwart the bottom of the vessel, so arranged as to be moved as the work progresses, and with a scraper fixed to a long handle, works on both sides of himself as far as he can reach. The mass of oysters that ecome attached to the iron hulls of one of the monitors, even during one summer hers, is immense. By actual measurement it was estimated that two hundred and fifty bushels of oysters, shells, and seaweed were taken from the bottom of the Montauk alone. The captains of the monitors have sometimes inraised on the hulls of their own vessels dulged in the novelty of a mess of oysters Besides cleaning the monitors, the divers perform other important services. They have ransacked the interior of the Keokuk, attached buoys to lost anchors, and made under-water examinations of the rebel obstructions. Waters recently examined the sunken Weehawken, and met an unusual danger for even his perilous calling. The sea was so violent that he was twice thrown from the deck of the monitor. Finally, getting hold of the iron ladder, he climbed to the top of the turret, when a heavy sea cast him inside the turret, between the guns. Fearing that his air hose give up his investigations until calmer weather offered a more favorable opportunity.

What Becomes of Dead Horses. [Wash, Correspondence Cincinnati Commercial.] Some people will no doubt be astonished to learn that large fortunes have been mide every year sizes the commencement of the war, out of the dead horses of the Army of the Potomac. The popular idea is that when Rosinante yields up the ghost, he is buried in some field, or left to moulder into mother earth in the woods, somewhere. Not so. Riker's Island on Christmas Day—How They Get Recruits—How They Treat Them—Where They Send Them.

To the Editor of the N. Y Tribune:
Sin: The other day, being somewhat interested in a young man who was about to enlist, I visited a recruiting office in Broadway, and afterwards Riker's Island, the result of which was I was put in possession of facts the record of some of which will be useful and some amusing to your readers.

About noon on Thursday last, in company with the would be recruit and his friend, I entered Supervisor Blunt's office, No. 240 Broadway. When we had made known our errand at the counter, we were immediately accosted in the most carnest manner by a bullet-headed runner, who urged us into a side chamber where a vonne Lieuteners. accosted. In the most earnest manner by a bullet-headed runner, who urged us into a side chamber where a young Lieutenant, doctor, and two clarks were scated at a table in readiness for customers. The officials looked gentlemanly; the runner quite the reverse and out of blace. He was very officious, putting questions to the recruit and his friend, which were curtly answered. The fellow, however, seemed to be recognized by the officers, and had apparently some semi-official position. After having vaialy endeavored to seduce the inclinent soldier into joining some regiment he did not wish to join, the Lieutenant took the matter in hand, put the recruit through a short examination, and then turned him over to the doctor, who retired with his charge behind a white curtain, whence I presently heard the word "one-one" repeated several times in the voice of my acquaints nee.

In a few moments the medical gentleman reappeared from behind the curtain, and, addressing the clerk, said, rather emphatically, I may earn with a cliently was eigently in the content of the curtain and, addressing the clerk, said, rather emphatically, I may earn with a cliently was eigently in the content of the curtain and addressing the clerk, said, rather emphatically.

reappeared from behind the curtain, and, addressing the clerk, said, rather emphatically, I may say with a slightly yes-sirreeish intonation of voice, "Make out his papers;" and the papers were made out. Buile-head took advantage of the orportunity to insinuate wholesome counsel into the ear of my friend's friend. It was very evident that Mr. Builethead was rather too friendly to be disinterested; but how he could be in any way concerned in the matter I was at a loss to understand. The mystery was not long in heing cerned in the matter I was at a loss to understand. The mystery was not long in being solved. After some half dozen printed forms had been filled up, binding the signer (I believed) to be liege and loyal, separately and collectively, to the United States, the State, the county and the city, the clerk turned to my friend and asked him to affix his signature. Here my friend's friend, being solicitous about the rights of my triend, ventured to inquire whether there was not a little matter of three hundred dollars to be arranged in the first instance. At this the Lieutenant fixed up, outraged at the bare hint that anything could be the least irregular in his potent presence. I confess this excessive sensitiveness did not sound pleasantly to my ears. However, not sound pleasantly to my ears. However, both my friends were readily satisfied that the word of a gentleman wearing shoulder-straps must be trustworthy, and relapsed Waters has his own ideas of a joke, and when he has a curious audience will wave his scraper about, as "he bobs around" on the water, with the air of a veritable river god. One of his best jokes (the better for being a veritable fact) occurred last summer. While he was employed scraping the hall of one of the monitors, a negro from one of the upriver plantations came alougside with a boat load of watermelons. While busy selling his melons, the diver came up and rested himself on the side of the boat. The negro stared at the extraordinary appearance thus suddenly coming out of the water, with alarmed wonder, but when the diver seized one of the best melons in the boat and disappeared under the water, the gurgling of the air from the helmet mixing with his muffled helmet, the fright of the negro reached a climax. Hastily seizing his oars, without waiting to be paid for his melons, he put off at his best speed, and has not been seen in the vicinity of Station Creek since. He cannot be tempted beyond the bounds of the plantation, and believes that the Yankees have brought river devils to aid them in making war.

The diver when clothed in his armor, is into silence, while one of the two became the property of Uncle Sam by writing his name committing a fraud?

I had heard so much of the outrages and robberies practiced upon recruits—yes, and murders, too—that I resolved to visit my young friend at Riker's Island on the following day and see how he fared. So, arming myself with a pass, I proceeded betimes to the wharf at Castle, Garden, where I found I had been > been misinformed as to the hour of starting by a clerk in the Provost Marshal's office, who told me that the boat left at 8½ o'clock. Fortunately, however, I was very early, and the boat was rather late, so I just n deck to find my friend there with a crowd of other forlorn-looking recruits, each or all ap-pearing as if they were just recovering from how the authorities treat the galla who enlist in our army. I learned that from the time I had left my friend at noon on the previous day till within an hour of that time he and his companions had been locked up in a barren room, with nothing but the hard boards to sleep on, nothing to cover them, no food, and for the greater part of the time no fire, and that on the very coldest night of this winter.

But one more luxury—a host of sharks and runners were let loose upon them, who, on pretense of procuring the famished wretches omething to eat and drink, fleseed them from night till morning. Some lost five, some lost ten, and some lost twinty dollars, and when the cold, gray morning came they were hur-ried on board the boat without breakfast, and I saw them standing in the bitter wind on Riker's Island till 1 o'clock P. M., without food. Truly, a glorious Christman and Christmas eve for men who were going out to fight the battles of their country. One splendid specimen of a New England sailor (a Captain, by the way), who had been enlisted while up by the way), who had been enlisted while under the influence of drink, at a certain office in Broadway, by a certain Major, whose name is conspicuously advert sed every day in the Herald, told me how he had been swindled out of $100 of his bounty by the said Major, and how he had nearly gone errzy during the night. It seems the Major gave him $200, promising the third hundred "presently," beside assuring him that he should be allowed to go home and see his wife before he left the city. Of course he kept neither promise, and city. Of course he kept neither promise, and there I found the poor fellow in great distress at the idea of the misery his wife was suffer-

A SNAKE IN His HAT.—The editor of a periodical states that a gentleman of the highest veracity related to him the following snake story, which beats anything we have read lately:

Going into an ordinary for his dinner, he was surprised to observe the extra cire with which a gentleman who took a seat opposite to him took off his hat. He turned his head as nearly upside down as possible without appeared very much agitated; they looked into the street, whispered to each other, then suddenly made a dash at the door. But, to the dismay and discomfiture of both, a constable jumped out of a carriage, collared them both, and with a triumphant "I have got you at last, you scoundrels," led them back into the store. Here he informs the dealer that these two gentlemen are two of the sharpest swindlers in Londou, which was saying a great deal, and asked the jeweler what which as nearly upside down as possible without summoning the j. weler to attend the pelice bureau in an hour, put the priseners in the carriage and drives off at a gallop.

Just as the last sound of the carriage had died away in the distance, the jeweler recovered from his surprise. It now occurred to him that perhaps it would have been better if he had accompanied the strange expedition. Breathless he dashed out, but the eab thad vanished. He made inquiries at the police bureau, but the sharp trio had vanished, and noither cab for the new years seen again. Deeply

To the Advertising Patrons of the Democrat.

We have already notified many of the advertising patrons of the Democrat that owing to the advancing price of everything used in the publication of a newspaper, and the increased wages of printers and others, we are compelled to adopt a new scale of rates, to commence on the 1st of January, 1864.

We have inclosed a circular to our adver tisers generally. The rates will apply to all old patrons, as well as new ones. This change is imperatively demanded by our increased expense in producing the paper, and is reluctantly asked. When the greatly increased circulation of the Democrat is taken into account, the schedule rates do not make it more costly in proportion to publicity given than it has been heretofore.

If any of our old patrons do not feel inclined to adopt the new rates they wil please inform us; and should we not, in reasonable space of time, hear from them, w shall consider them as having assented to the changes. PERILOUS VOYAGE-A MAN COMES FROM JEFFERSONVILLE TO THIS CITY ON THE FLOAT ING ICE.—One of the most hazardous feats terday by a citizen of our sister city, Jef- ferent houses: fersonville, by the name of Wm. H. Harrington. This gentleman desiring to come to this city, and not wishing to take the circuitous route by New Albany, came to the conclusion that he would cross the cakes of floating ice. He accordingly commenced his perilous voyage, starting from the Indiana shore on one of the cakes of ice, and after a short but trying voyage, he reached this shore amount packed last season was 3,317,870. in perfect safety. The trip was made by jumping from one cake to another-Mr. H. selecting his foothold with great care. To accomplish this great feat it required undaunted courage, and this Mr. H. possesses to a great degree. The crossing was made without the assistance of a pole, or even a stick; and when this fact is taken into ed in this or any other section of the country. PORK TRADE OF LOUISVILLE. The Number Slaughtered Around the Falls.

During the past two seasons the hog slaughtering around the falls has not been equal to what it was in previous years, owing to the fact that a large number of the hogs which were raised in Kentucky were purchased by the Government and driven to different points to be slaughtered and packed. As our table does not include the number packed here on account of the Government the figures may appear small. Owing to the uncertainty of the market and the high prices which ruled at the opening of the season, three of the houses here did no packing, and the five firms who entered into the business acted very cautiously. At the commencement of the present season the price of hogs in this city ruled high, our packers paying higher prices than the packers of other cities. The season closed some time since, but owing to the difficulty in obtaining the exact figures in the absence of a merchants' exchange, we were unable to lay the full statistics before our readers before the present time. The annexed table shows the total number slaughtered

By the above table it will be seen that the total number of hogs slaughtered around the falls this season is 98,978, against 87,356 last season. This shows an increase of 11,622 in the packing of this season over that of last season. The following table shows the weight of the hogs packed by the different houses:

By the above table it will be seen that the total weight of the hogs slaughtered around the falls this season foots up 19,458,982 pounds, while the weight last season was 20,899,761, showing a decrease in weight of 1,440,799 ever attempted in these parts, and one which pounds, while the increase in the number equals anything of the kind that we have slaughtered was 11,622. A Satisfactory Exchange Expected

XXXVIIIth Congress .- First Session. WASHINGTON, Jan. 16. SENATE.

Mr. Fessenden stated that it was erroneon and unjust to construe the commutation clause in any other way that that the procuration of substitutes or payment of commutation in lieu thereof to exempt States from the quots. Mr. Clark offered an amendment, providing that money paid for commutation shall be paid to substitutes in the district from which paid to substitutes in the district from which the person was drafted.

Mr. Grimes opposed Mr. Clark's amend-ment. He did not think it should be left to the Secretary of War to furnish black substi-tutes to free the governments of States unless such substitutes were citizens of the State in

Mr. Fessenden supported Clark's amend-ment as a measure of justice to the States. Mr. Harlan did not think that the negro was sufficient substitute for a white man, as he as inferior in intellect.

Mr. Davis considered that it was unjust to all out the laboring classes of the loval States of the South as substitutes for the laboring men of the North.

Mr. Harlan said, as white men of Kentucky has refused, the colored men of that State should fill up the quota of that State. He could see no reason for the exemption of colored men in that State or in other States which

Mr. Morgan presented a petition from citizens of New York, remonstrating against the relief of unnaturalized citizens from the

The enrollment bill being under consideration, Mr. Fessenden said his opinion of yes-terday that the payment of commutation money did not release a state from the draft was erroneous, and that the construction put upon it by the Secretary of War was correct. He thought it impossible to construct the com-mutation clause in any other way than that utation clause in any other way than that the precuration of substitutes or the payment mutation money exempted the States

Mr. Clark offered an amendment providing that the commutation money shall be applied by the War Department for obtaining substitutes from the district where the drafted persons fails to fill the quota of that State.

Mr. Grimes did not desire that colored men should be enlisted to fill up the quota of the State. He would like the word men to be construed white men. The colored men were enlisted by the General Government, and colored men, unless the citizens of a State would not take the place of the white men.

Mr. Harian thought that this was a tax upon the money of the country, not on intellect.

The people of Louisinia, Tennessee and Kentucky owe allegiance to the country as well as those from Maine and Massachusetts. He never had believed that colored soldiers could cepted as a substitute for his superior.
Mr. Davis said that a large proportion of the labor of Kentucky was performed by slaves, and yet the S-cretary of War would sooner enlist a slave than a white man in the order States, thus stripping those States of ts laboring class to serve as substitutes for Northern jobbing men, who were kept at Mr. Wilson was glad the Government was bout establishing a policy in regard to slaves. which he had urged upon them for four nonths past.

Mr. Grimes thought negroes should be put under the protection of the National Govern-ment. His amendment was intended to stim-ulate culistment among the negroes, so that there would be ne occasion for another call upon the States.

Mr. Grimes' amendment was rejected by a vote of 28 to 54.

Mr. Doclittle offered an amendment providing that veteran troops re-enlisting shall be credited to the quota of the district in which they were originally enlisted. Amend-which they were originally enlisted. Amend-ment adopted—27 to 17.

Another amendment was adopted provid ing that the commutation money paid by persons drafted shall be applied to the procurement of substitutes for the Congressional district in which the draft takes place, and that colored troops be credited to the State in which they were enlisted.

Mr. Trumbull offered an amendment requesting the President to call out and equip oue hundred thousand men to serve one hun-dred days for the single object of driving out the rebel army from Virginia and releasing the Union prisoners at and around Rich-

Mr. Wilson wanted to know what one hundred thousand raw militia would be against Lee's veteran army. They would be of no ecount whatever. account whatever.

Mr. Trumbull said if we would say to the people that there would be a vigorous campaign for this single object, we could raise the 100,000 men for the increased number proposed by the Senator from Massachusetts.

Now, he had no fears these new troops would be stamped faster and said finally that be stamped faster, and said flually, that among his constituents there was an intense-ly strong feeling in favor of the objects conemplated by the amendment.

The Senator from Illinois said there would also be wild enthusiasm in many sections of the country if the amendment was adopted He did not think, however, it was proper to incorporate this into the present bill.

Mr. Nesmith moved to insert three years

(Special to the Post.) WASHINGTON, January 16.

Letters received here to-day from Robert J. Valker, now in London, state that a great revolution is going on in public opinion in England in reference to the financial strangth of this Government. He says also that a heavy tide of emigration will set in to this country in the spring, and with Congression-al legislation, it may be swelled to half a million of persons a year. He proposes that Congress shall enact that no emigrants shall be liable to conscription during the war. This would disarm suspicion abroad.

A considerable number of Congressmen are sick, not many of them seriously, however.

The Senate did not adjourn last night, because it was environt to mass the amendments. cause it was anxious to pass the amendments to the enrollment act. To-day the House will undoubtedly make some changes in the bill as stands in the Senate.

New York, January 16. The Post has the following, which savors somewhat of humbug:

A Union refugee who arrived here recently from Richmond asserts that on Christmas morning, at an early hour, persons passing by the house of Jeff Davis were surprised to see confederate officer with a rope significantly laid on the top. [From the Richmond Whig. The Charleston Courier makes a timely suggestion in ommending the attention of our Government to the naturalization and cultivation of Calisaya for the preservation of the health of our soldiers. This article has a peculiar effect upon the liver, and guards the system aga'nst disease by exposure and irregular diet. It i said that the great success of the Plantation Bitters of Dr. Drake, which, previous to our unhappy difficulties, was found in most Southern homes, was owing to the extract of Calisaya Bark, which it contained as one of its principal ingredients, "In confirmation of this, we have heard one of our most distinguished physicians remark, that whenever he felt unwell from ordinary dietetic or atmospheric causes, he invariably relieved himself by Plantation Bitters. Now that these Bitters cannot be obtained, a substitute should be prepared.

His handsome young wife, the amiable mother of three interesting children, sat to the left of her husband, with Willie, the youngest child, in her lap, who was growing quite impatient. Closer the few says the receipts from internal revenue from the 1st of last June to January 14th amount to $47,641,000. With changes in the lawest estimates for the to the fire sat an aged and venerable grayhaired old gentleman, with whom Time had dealt gently, though, when life began with him, hardships were to be encountered at every step. It was Mr. Grahame's father, who had been living with his son for the past several years, having lost his wife, by death in Minnesota, Florence and Bobby were both sitting before the old gentleman, with their mouths open ready to drink in every word as it came from his lips. "Now, grandpa," said Florence, "we are waiting."

"Well, children," said he, at the same time he smoothed the long, gray locks back from his broad but wrinkled forehead, shout 60 years ago a little boy, about the from his broad but wrinkled forehead, "about 60 years ago a little boy, about the size of Bobby, maybe larger, with a little bundle of clothes tied to the end of a stick, and thrown over his shoulder, went into

Willie ran towards his mother, saying, "This is my ma, anyhow."

Mr. Grahame called the children around the table, after each had kissed grandpa, and the aged father and loving wife all listened attentively to a chapter read from the pages of the Holy Bible. Then they all knelt in prayer----solemn, earnest prayer---from the hearts of that happy family, who were the recipients of God's blessings in this world with the pleasing hope of renewed ones in the world to come. After prayer they all retired to their chambers where Morpheus awaited patiently to fold each in one tender embrace, for they had surely found happiness in spending Ax EVENING AT HOME.

CORRUPTION IN THE CUSTOMHOUSE.—A great commotion has been excited in the Customhouse by the arrest and confinement in Fort Lafayette of Mr. A. N. Palmer, charged with malfeasance in office. It is alleged that he was in collusion with partie Apropos of his disgrace, the Tribune, the organ of the same party, gives us its opinion of him and of the Customhouse in general. Now that he has fallen, it goes, as its protetype went, to the sick lion, and gives him its kick, and declares that the revenue service needs to be overhauled thoroughly and promptly, and intimates that Palmer's corruption is not the only one that will be found there. Evidently it has had some wrath against the Customhouse bottled up, and takes this opportunity to let it out. We agree with the Tribuse that the Customhouse ought to be thoroughly overhauled and the light let into all its dark places, and we are also of the

From a Forecarding Merchant of St. Louis, Feb. 3, 1820.

DR. Aver. Your Pills are the paragon of all that is great in medicine. They have cured my little daughter of ulcerous sores upon her hands and feet that had proved incurable for years. Her mother has been long grievously afflicted with blotches and pimples on her skin and In her hair. After our child was cured, she also tried your Pills, and they have cured her ASA MORGRIDGE. As a Family Medicine.

From Dr. E. W. Carteright, New Orleans,
Your Pills are the prince of purges. Their excellen qualities surpass any cathartic we posses. They ar mild, but very certain and effectual in their action of the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in th daily treatment of disease. Headache, Sick Headache and Foul From Dr. Edward Boyd, Baltimore.

DEAR BRO. Aver: I cannot answer you what con plaints I have cured with your Pills better than to sa all that we ever treat with a purgative medicine, place great dependence on an effectual cathartic in maily contest with disease, and believing as I do the your Pills afford us the best we have, I of course value them highly. them highly.

PITTSBURG, PA., May 1, 1955.

DR. J. C. AYER—Sir: I have been repeatedly cured of the worst headache any body can have by a dose or two of your Pilis. It seems to arise from a foul stomach, which they cleanse at once.

Yours with great respect, ED, W. PREBLE, Clerk of Steamer Clarion.

Bilious Disorders-Liver Complaints. From Dr. Theodore Bell, of New York City.

Not only are your Pills admirably adapted to thei purpose as an aperient, but I find their beneficial effect upon the Liver very market indeed. They have in m practice proved more effectual for the cure of bilion complaints than any one remedy I can mention. I sincerely rejoice that we have at length a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people. DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, Washington, D. C., 7th February, 1856.

Washington, D. C., 7th February, 1896.

Sir: I have used your Pilis in my general and hospital practice ever since you made them, and cannot hesis tate to say they are the best cathartic we employ. Their regulating action on the liver is quick and decided, consequently they are an admirable remedy for derange ments of that organ. Indeed, I have seldom found a case of billious disease so obstinate that it did not read ly yield to them. Fraternally yours.

Physician of the Marine Fospital.

Dysentery, Diarrhea, Relax, Worms. From Dr. J. G. Green, of Chicago. Your Pills have had a long trial in my practice, and hold them in esteem as one of the best ape ients I have ver found. Their alterative effect upon the livermaker hem an excellent remedy, when given in small dose or billous dysentery and diarrhea. Their sugar roating makes them very acceptable and convenient or the use of women and children. Dyspepsia, Impurity of the Blood.

Pyspepsia, Impurity of the Biood.

From the Rev. J. V. Himes, Postor of Advent Church
Dr. Ayrn: I have used your Pills with extraordinary success in my family and among those I am cylled to visit in distress. To regulate the organs of digression and punfy the blood, they are the very best remedy I have ever known, and I can confidently recommend them to my friends. Yours,

Warsaw, Wyoming Co., N. J. V. IHMES.

Dear Sur: I am using your Cathardis Pills in my pracce, and find them an excellent purgative to cleares the system and purify the fountation of the blood, M. D.

Constinuing. Coliveness, Suppression. Constipation, Cotiveness, Suppression, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Drop-sy, Paralysis, Fits, etc.

From Dr. J. P. Vaughn, Montreal, Canada. Too much cannot be said of your Pills for the cure of costineness. If others of our fraternity have found them as efficacious as I have, they should join me in proclaiming it for the benefit of the multitudes who suffer from that complaint, which, although bad enough in itself, is the progenitor of others that are worse. I believe costineness to originate in the liver, but your Pills affect that organ and cure the disease.

I find one or two large doses of your Pills, taken at the proper time, are excellent proportives of the natural recretion when wholly or partially suppresse 1, and also

They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients.

PULASKI HOUSE. SAVANNAB, GA., Jan. 6, 1826.

HONORED Sir. I should be uncrateful for the relief your skill has brought me it I did not report my case to you. A cold settled in my limbs and brought on exeruciating newralgie pating, which ended in chronic rheumatism. Notwithstanding I had the best physicians, the disease grew worse and worse, until by the advice of your excellent agent in Baltimore, Dr. Mackenzie. I tried your Pills. Their effects we es slow, but sure. By persevering in the use of them, I am now entirely well. Senare Chamber, Baton Konge, La., Dec. 5, 1855.

Dr. Ayer: I have been entirely cured, by your Pills, of rheumatic gout—a painful disease that had afflicted me for years.
